“Well Made Here” urges patriotism in Canadian competition policy

Our organization, “Well Made Here”, has decided to participate in the future of competition policy in Canada. While the initiative focuses on the Competition Bureau’s application system, our involvement is based on our awareness of the fact that the singular anti-trust dimension of the language of the current Competition Act – and no doubt that our organization deserves to be modernized, not only in light of the digitalization of the globalization of markets affecting the well-being of our citizens, but also the free trade treaties on these businesses, and above all, the little “locally made” products.
